ON BEHALF OF RESPONDENTS: Daniel L. Palmquist, Esquire

ON BEHALF OF DHS: Terry M. Louie

CHARGE:

Notice: Sec. 237(a)(1)(B), I&N Act [8 U.S.C. § 1227(a)(1)(B)] -
In the United States in violation of law (all respondents)

APPLICATION: Asylum

By an order dated June 16, 2003, we sustained the Department's of Homeland Security (DHS) appeal from an Immigration Judge's decision granting the respondents' application for asylum. On October 20, 2003, we denied the respondents' motion to reconsider. The respondents sought review of our orders by the Court of Appeals for the (b) (6) (the Court). By an order dated (b) (6), the Court found that the respondents demonstrated past persecution on account of a protected ground, and remanded the case to us for further proceedings. On April 22, 2005, we remanded the matter to the Immigration Court. By an order dated December 15, 2005, an Immigration Judge granted the respondents' application for asylum, and the DHS again appealed. The DHS' appeal will be dismissed.

We adopt and affirm the December 15, 2005, decision of the Immigration Judge granting the respondents' application for asylum. See Matter of Burbano, 20 I&N Dec. 872, 874 (BIA 1994) (noting that adoption or affirmance of a decision of an Immigration Judge, in whole or in part, is "simply a statement that the Board's conclusions upon review of the record coincide with those which the Immigration Judge articulated in his or her decision"). Consistent with the Court's November 10, 2004, order, the respondents are deemed to have demonstrated past persecution in their native Peru on account of a protected ground. Moreover, for the reasons discussed by the Immigration Judge, we agree that the presumption of a well-founded fear of future persecution has not been rebutted in this case despite the submission by the DHS of evidence reflecting a weakening position and influence of the Shining Path over the past several years (I.J. at 9-12). Inasmuch as we are in agreement with the Immigration Judge's decision, we affirm his decision that the respondents are eligible for asylum and merit this form of relief in the exercise of discretion. In view of the foregoing, the following orders shall be entered.

ORDER: The DHS' appeal is dismissed.

FURTHER ORDER: Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 1003.1(d)(6), the record is remanded to the Immigration Judge for the purpose of allowing the DHS the opportunity to complete or update identity, law enforcement, or security investigations or examinations, and further proceedings, if necessary, and for the entry of an order as provided by 8 C.F.R. § 1003.47(h). See Background and Security Investigations in Proceedings Before Immigration Judges and the Board of Immigration Appeals, 70 Fed. Reg. 4743, 4752-54 (Jan. 31, 2005).

ORDER:

PER CURIAM. This case was previously before the Board on June 16, 2003, when we sustained the Department of Homeland Security appeal from an Immigration Judge's decision granting the respondents' applications for asylum. We denied the respondents' motion to reconsider in a decision dated October 20, 2003. The matter is now before us pursuant to the (b) (6) decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the (b) (6). The court reversed the Board's finding that the harm the lead respondent suffered was not on account of a protected ground. The case was remanded for further consideration in light of the court's finding that the respondents had suffered past persecution. The court emphasized that, as past persecution has been shown, the burden is now on the DHS to show that conditions in Peru are sufficiently changed to rebut the presumption of past persecution.

Following the court's remand, the DHS filed a motion to remand to the Immigration Judge for further consideration of the issue of changed country conditions. The respondents have not opposed this motion. Accordingly, the decisions of the Board in this case dated June 16, 2003, and October 20, 2003, are vacated, and the record is remanded to the Immigration Judge for further proceedings consistent with the court's decision.
